

Lindfield FC Juniors : Code of Conduct for Managers & Coaches

A junior player's involvement with a football club will form a significant part of his or her young life and it is likely to be an influence on him/her in general. As a club we need to do our best for our players and we therefore recommend the following....

Safety

Treat safety as a top priority. Obtain and maintain an appropriate first aid qualification

Appropriate Actions

Respect the rights, worth and dignity of every other person associated with the club (both Child and Adult) and act accordingly

Maintain an appropriate relationship with players based on mutual trust and respect. Always remember that players are involved in football for their own enjoyment not for that of the coach or manager.

Encourage and guide players to the best of their ability. Develop the abilities of your team and motivate them in a positive way.

Obtain a minimum coaching qualification and look to keep up to date with advances in training methods for the benefit of your players

Use training suited to the abilities of your players

Conduct of Managers and Coaches

Always promote the positive aspects of football. Encourage your players to play by the rules and in the spirit of the game and do the same yourself. Ensure you and your team respect match officials and anyone associated with the team playing against you.

Set a good example to your players. Consistently keep high standards of behaviour, appearance and time keeping. Don't gloat over your team's victories and accept defeats with good grace.

Do not use or tolerate bad language
